LAWS OF TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO

the lands and premises occupied by the licensee and distraint on all or any of the stock of petroleum and petroleum products and all things found in or upon the premises;

- (b) if within fourteen days after the date of the distraint, the sums due still remain unpaid, the Minister may sell all or any part of the goods so distrained, recovering therefrom the amounts due and paying the surplus, if any, to the licensee;
- (c) if the Minister acts under the foregoing provisions of this regulation he shall be indemnified by the licensee against all actions, claims, liabilities and other obligations to such licensee arising directly or indirectly from such action, notwithstanding that by any rule of law the licensee would not be so liable.

(2) The field storage value shall be calculated by aggregating the values of the volume of the component fractions in the crude oil and deducting therefrom a refining and handling allowance equal to nine per cent of such aggregate of values.

(3) The value of each fraction contained in the crude oil shall be determined by reference to the average for the quarterly period of the daily mean of the high and low prices as quoted in Platt's Oilgram Price Service for Gulf Coast cargo lots for refined products.

Value of natural gasoline—field storage value.

67. (1) Subject to regulation 68, the value of natural gasoline for the purpose of payment of royalties shall be its field storage value.

(2) The field storage value shall be calculated by multiplying the net volume produced by the price of natural gasoline.

(3) The price of natural gasoline shall be determined by reference to the average for the quarterly period of the daily mean of the high and low postings as quoted in Platt's Oilgram Price Service for Gulf Coast cargo lots for 94 octane, regular motor gasoline, and by deducting therefrom the appropriate discount to be agreed between the Minister and the licensee.

Calculation of field storage value. [190/1989].

67A. (1) For licences to be issued after the commencement of the Petroleum (Amendment) Regulations, 1989, the field storage value of crude oil and natural gasoline to be fixed respectively under regulation 66(1) and 67(1) shall be calculated by using international market prices of selected reference crudes which are similar in quality and which are widely traded at an arms length basis.

(2) In determining the field storage value under subregulation (1) consideration shall be given to the following:

- (a) the transportation differential between the cost of transporting to the price-setting market, the reference crudes and the crude to be valued;
- (b) interest charges on the value of the inventory in transit, in determining the transportation costs;
- (c) such other circumstances prevailing at the time of issue of the licence.

68. Where the price basis for any of the component fractions or natural gasoline is not published in Platt's Oilgram or in any other publication acceptable to the Minister and the licensee, an equitable price shall be determined by agreement between the Minister and the licensee.

Agreement as to prices in certain cases.

69. (1) The value of natural gas for the purposes of payment of royalties shall be calculated, in the case of transactions between different petroleum operations of a licensee, by multiplying the volume required to be assessed by the weighted average of the actual price.

Value of natural gas—how determined.

(2) For the purposes of subregulation (1), the actual price shall be based on the total gas sales to companies outside the petroleum producing and refining industries during the previous year, at the point of utilisation or export.

70. (1) Subject to this regulation, on or before the twenty-first day after the end of each quarterly period of the year, the licensee shall estimate the royalty to be paid on each licence in respect of that period and shall pay the amount thereof to the Minister after deducting the value of any petroleum taken in kind.

Quarterly instalments of royalty payable.

(2) The Minister may estimate the amount of royalty payable where—

- (a) the licensee fails to make the estimate required by subregulation (1); or
- (b) the Minister considers that the estimate made by the licensee is less than a proper estimate, and upon making demand therefor in writing, of such licensee, subregulation (1) shall apply accordingly, as if the Minister's estimate was the estimate of such licensee.

(3) Where the sum of royalties payable in respect of any quarterly period on each licence is less than the amount already paid as minimum payments for that period, no royalty shall be payable on that licence in respect of that period.
